RESPECT LIFE

Easter is a Season

Just as Sunday is one day out of seven, so the Easter season, a period of 50 days, is approximately one-seventh of the year. The Easter season, a time of special rejoicing and celebration of the Resurrection of Christ, is the "Great Sunday" of the year. The liturgical prayers and readings focus on the Resurrection and the effects that it has on believers and on the world. The Acts of the Apostles is a book of Scripture that provides the source of most of the readings of the Easter Season, and it shows the vigor with which the apostles proclaimed the Resurrection and brought many to the waters of baptism to share the new life of Christ. This season is a celebration of life and leads us all to a deeper commitment to proclaim, celebrate, and serve the gift of human life. The next Respect Life Holy Hour: Thursday, April 19, 2018 at 7:00pm.

CAN I RECEIVE COMMUNION TWICE IN ONE DAY?

One of the most common questions that is asked by parishioners to their priests is: Am I allowed to receive Holy Communion twice in one day? According to a decision rendered from the 1983 Code of Canon Law; Catholics may receive Holy Communion a second time on any given day (All the other criteria being taken for granted: e.g., fasting for 60 minutes and being in a state of grace.) - provided that the second time one receives the Eucharist, it is done in the context of a complete Mass. Therefore, if I attended Mass earlier in the day and then attended a complete second Mass, I can receive Holy Communion at that Mass. However, if I am, say, visiting a sick friend and an Extraordinary Minister of Holy Communion brings Holy Communion to that sick friend, I would not be able to receive Holy Communion on that occasion because it is not a complete Mass.
